Resignation Of Rector Accepted

The wardens and vestry of Christ church, at a recent meeting, accepted with great regret the resignation of Rev. Albert C. Morris as pastor. In a letter dated May 15, Rev. Mr. Morris, an army chaplain in Delaware, tendered his resignation due to the uncertainty of the length of his future service in that capacity.

First appointed to the local rectorship in October, 1937, Rev. Mr. Morris had made many improvements both in the physical and spiritual aspects of the parish during his stay here. Previously to the local appointment, he was vicar of the Church of the Ascension, Boston.

He attended the University of Texas and its law school, and was employed in the bond buying department of a St. Louis investment firm before taking up his theological studies. Rev. John S. Moses has been acting rector since last September.

Rev. Mr. Morris was elected to the local school committee in the elections of 1941, but received his army commission late that spring. He has made occasional visits here

Abbot Commencement Exercises Impressive

Diplomas were presented 62 students at Abbot's 113th annual Commencement exercises, held Monday morning at the South church. Among them were Marilyn Knox Barlow, Marjorie Mellor Dean and Margaret Ross McFarlin of Andover.

Miss Marguerite C. Hearsey, principal, in presenting the degrees, reminded the graduates that their hopes for the future, even though they give rise to a confused mingling of emotions in normal times, are even more dubious in wartime years. The happiness and security of school years probably never seemed so desirable to a graduating class as this one, she added.

Yet because of the war, she pointed out, Abbot wants its graduates to be more ready than ever to take their place near the front and assume the responsibilities of life. She advised them to make the best use of their educations, to cultivate a well-disciplined, well-informed mind, always remembering that "there is no reasonable hope for the future except as an individual demonstrates by her own living, the values for which men are fighting today."

"Be true to the goodly heritage you have," she concluded, "No one

Surprise Blackout Is Fair Success

Confusion At Outset From Premature Warning; Bad Leakage on Blackout Time

Despite considerable confusion at its beginning, and the lack of complete personnel in several departments, Andover's test blackout Tuesday evening was a relative success. The mobilization of the defense workers in all branches was quite satisfactory, considering that no time or date for the blackout was announced other than that it would take place some time this week, and several workers were either out of town when "green one" was received, or were unable to reach their posts before traffic was stopped.

Unlike Andover's previous blackouts, all local factories working Tuesday night were blacked out for a time, one of them for the full period.

The fact that a great many people in Andover and other communities in Region 4 had previous "inside information" on the time the blackout was to begin, was considered a serious matter by local authorities. It had been previously understood that only one official, in Lawrence, was to know when "green one," the first confidential alarm summons, would be given, yet a great many people expected it to come when it did.

The fact that an announcement was given over Lowell and Law-

Committee Meets During Blackout

Discusses Religious Education In Schools

Blackout quarters have been ready in the basement of Punchard high school for several months now, and Tuesday night the school committee got a first-hand opportunity to test their practicality. When the audible alarm started at that time, the committee, meeting in its regular quarters, adjourned to the blacked-out basement corridor, and continued its deliberations there.

A long discussion was held at the meeting relative to religious education in the local public schools, but final action was reserved for a special meeting on June 23. Plans for such a course of study have already been drawn up by the local clergymen, and it is understood that the committee unanimously approves it in principle, though administrative details have yet to be considered.

According to the plan, religious education will be a regularly accredited course, in the seventh and eighth grades only at the beginning, later to be expanded through the entire system. Roman Catholic pupils will probably be taught by the Sisters of Notre Dame at St. Augustine's parochial school, Episcopal children through Christ church, and other Protestant denominations through the South and Free churches.

Consumers Co-operative Elects New Officers

Members of the Andover Consumers Co-operative, at their annual meeting a few days ago, discovered that their organization had had the best year in its history. The sum of $371.62 was paid back to the members in the form of patronage dividends, some members receiving rebates of over $10.

This store is owned by about 140 residents of Andover and surrounding communities. It was founded a few years ago by members of the discussion group of the North Parish Church, North Andover, but many members from outside that group have been added to the "co-op" since then.

Rev. Cornelius Heyn, pastor of the North Parish Church, has been active in the local movement since

With 30 additional questionnaires being sent out this week, and five X cards returned to the rationing board last night for a total of 63 turned in during the week, the process of limiting Andover residents to the least amount of gasoline necessary to carrying on their businesses, is steadily becoming more searching.

Persons who, by the board's decision, are not entitled to X rationing cards were sent form letters this week, asking them to turn in such cards within three days. Supplemental ration cards will be issued them to take care of their needs till the end of June.

Since 30 questionnaires are being sent this week, in addition to the 101 sent last week, slightly more than half of the 250-odd X card holders are now being questioned, and it is advised that many other holders of X cards will be asked to prove their need.

A new ruling from Washington this week has decreed that defense

Punchard High Graduation Tuesday Lois Henderson To Give Valedictory, Virginia Stevens, Salutatory; Supt. Erickson Awards Prizes

Graduation exercises for Punchard's first wartime class are expected to be a more solemn occasion than heretofore, this year, and will take place Tuesday evening at 8:00 in the Memorial auditorium.

Miss Lois Carmen Henderson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Henderson of Chester street, Ballardvale, an outstanding student during her three years at Punchard, will give the valedictory and essay, "The Silent Battle." The salutatory and essay, "The Importance of the Press in the World Today," will be given by Virginia Grace Stevens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Stevens of High Plain road.

Miss Gladys Monroe, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John S. Monroe of 20 Baker Lane will deliver the first honor essay, entitled "Defense and You." The second honor essay, "Nurses and Doctors in Defense," will be given by Norma Elaine Goff, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Goff of 3 Elm street.

The graduating class will enter the auditorium in the traditional strains of the "Priests' March" from Athalia. The Girls' Glee club will sing one solo, "Thanks Be to God," by Dickson, and the combined girls' and boys' glee clubs will render "The Heavens Resound," by Beethoven.

Prayer will be offered by Rev. Donald H. Savage, trustee of the Punchard Free school and pastor of the West church. Rev. Frederick B. Noss, also a trustee and minister at South church, will award the diplomas, and Supt. of Schools Edward I. Erickson will award the various prizes. The class gift will be presented to the school by David LeRoy Markert, president of the graduating group. The program will conclude with the singing of the Punchard Ode.

Punchard's class day, on Monday, will feature a banquet in the school cafeteria. Class President David Markert will give the address of welcome and act as master of ceremonies for the following program: Class statistics, Elizabeth Costello; class history, James Collins; advice to undergraduates, Janet Gillen; class will, George Kelly; and class prophecy, Gene Farnsworth.

D. A. R. Medals Awarded To Junior High Pupils

The coveted D. A. R. medals awarded annually to Junior high school pupils, have been given this year to Miriam Dearborn and George Collins, both of Division 14. The basis of the awards is scholarship, courage, leadership, service and honor.

Miriam has been most active during her three years in Junior high. In grade 7, she served on the traffic squad, dance committee and glee club, and held a home room office each term. In grade 8, she was a member of both the traffic squad and dance committee, president of Room 12 for one term and vice-president the second, and acted as manager for Chester Jenkins in his successful campaign for the office of school treasurer. This year, she has been president of the student government during the first term, and is now vice-president of Room 5. She is now a lieutenant on the traffic squad, as well as a member of the dance committee.

She has maintained a good scholastic record, was voted the one who has done the most for the class of 1942, and has handled all the notes given the Townsman from the Junior high.

George Collins has also made a fine record. In grade 7, he was a member of the traffic squad, gym, football and basketball teams, handball tournament, track team, orchestra and dance committee. In the eighth grade, he again took part in the sports mentioned above, except handball, was an orchestra member and president of his home room during one term.

As president of Room 4 for both terms this year, he has led the meetings in a most business-like manner. Still serving on the dance committee and the traffic squad, he has been active in gym team work, track, football, baseball, basketball and soccer. He has maintained a good scholastic standing.

Mrs. Frank L. Cole of Boston, formerly of Andover, has been spending several days with relatives in town.

Helpful Suggestions

Wash interior frequently with mild solution of baking soda and warm water. Clean freezer unit too — prevents odors. Don't overcrowd — allow for air circulation. Reset cold control after quick-freezing. Defrost according to directions.

War-time restrictions mean that we must take good care of our gas refrigerators, so they will serve us better — longer. Because the gas refrigerator has no moving parts, long years of thrifty, dependable refrigeration is assured. But proper care will help to prolong its usefulness and return extra dividends.

A gasoline rationing committee for civilian defense activities, has recently been appointed through the local public safety committee to certify applications for supplemental gasoline rationing cards in connection with civilian defense activities. It includes Alan T. Polgreen, chairman; Roy E. Hardy, Douglas S. Byers, Harry D. Leonard and Dr. Nathaniel Stowers.

Starts Farm Clearing House For Civic Service

If you think you must have two and one-half boys scouts to move a grand piano or bury a skunk, you should get in touch with John A. Brodhead, chairman of the Andover District Committee, B.S.A., it was voted last week at a committee meeting Thursday evening in the Punchard Library. Mr. Brodhead will act as a clearing house for requests for civic service.

There are eight units and 176 boys enrolled in Andover, including cubs and scouts, and five of the eight units are now without leaders, according to Harvey H. Bacon, scout executive. Enlistments, inductions, and defense work are responsible for this condition.

William L. McDonald, vice-chairman of the district, made up and brought to the meeting copies of the new list of merit badge counselors, for which there has been a great demand.

since then from his present station at Fort Dupont, Delaware.

At the recent meeting, the wardens and vestry approved the sending of the following letter of regrets to Mr. Morris:

Dear Mr. Morris:

At a meeting of the wardens and vestry of Christ Church held on May 27, it was voted with great regret to accept the resignation tendered in your letter of May 15. In taking this action, the Vestry appreciates the fine spirit which guided you and is regretfully forced to accept your arguments justifying your action; namely, that no man knows how long the war will last, that you cannot be released from service until six months after the close of hostilities, and that it is not good for any Parish to be separated from its leader for more than a year. The Wardens and Vestry express the sentiments of the Parish in wanting you to know that even though you are no longer with us, the affection of the Parish will follow you wherever you may be. In the five years that you were our Rector you have built up the church, organized the parish activities, beautified the services, and stimulated the religious life of us all. Because of you Christ Church is in sound condition to pass on to your successor.

We shall miss you and Mrs. Morris and Jack. Wherever your duties may call you we shall wish you good fortune and happiness in the self-sacrificing work you are doing.

With warmest personal regards,
Yours very sincerely,
KENNETH S. MINARD,
Clerk of the Parish

Awarded Columbia Degree

John A. Rogge, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rogge of Ballardvale road, was one of 350 graduates receiving their degrees at Columbia University Tuesday.

Rogge, who attended the local schools and Phillips Academy, has been treasurer of the Columbia senior class for the past year, a member of the class day committee and of Sachems, senior honorary society. He was cited for special honors in history by the college authorities, and was chairman of the ticket committees for the senior banquet and the senior promenade. He was also a senior advisor to entering freshmen, a member of the glee club and the Van Am society, honorary sophomore-junior service group.

He held an honor scholarship at Columbia, one of twenty such awards given annually to outstanding high and prep school students throughout the country for a four-year tenure at the New York school.

Blackout

rence radio stations tended to confuse the wardens, and many of them came on duty before they had been summoned through the regular channel of the report center. There were scattered incidents of wardens blowing their whistles for the extinguishing of lights in their district, not only before the sounding of the audible alarms, but before the putting out of local street-lights, the commonly accepted blackout signal. Such incidents, however, were extremely rare.

SIRENS TOO FAINT

The audibility of the sirens and whistles signalling the alarm, as in previous blackouts, was not good in some of the less thickly-populated districts. Nothing can be done about this, however, until additional sirens, now on order by the defense committee, can be obtained. All siren orders are late in being filled, because of priorities.

The mobilization of local wardens, policemen, and other workers was the most successful feature of the test. Chief Air Raid Warden Leonard James reported yesterday that 300 wardens had been on duty, against 40 absent. Only 9 auxiliary police out of 64 failed to appear. The staff of the report center was fully mobilized in a short time, boy messengers, who were obliged to travel on foot, being the last to arrive.

There were no raid incidents affecting Andover, and none of the mobile apparatus was sent out. A test call from Lawrence, however, advising that it had been "heavily bombed," resulted in local fire trucks being theoretically sent to the scene, though none actually left the station. All drivers of defense apparatus were at their posts during the blackout, but none of their assistants and squad workers were summoned.

THE ANDOVER TOWNSMAN, June 4, 1942

RADIO SIGNAL CONFUSING

As to the premature radio signal, the radio stations giving them have reported that there was a definite understanding between them and Lawrence defense officials that a public announcement would be given. When received, the statement carried the notation that it was to be announced about 5 minutes afterwards for the consumption of the general public, and that mobilization of the air raid precautions workers would have gotten under way by that time. The fact that the radio stations made a premature announcement was due to a faulty estimate of the various times involved.

No definite decision on announcing blackouts over the radio had then been worked out, which is believed to have caused the resultant confusion.

"GREEN ONE" AT 8:20

The "green one" signal came to the local report center from Lawrence at 8:20, but confirmation was held up for ten minutes while the local center tried to check with Lawrence. Green two was sounded at 8:43, at which time street lights were extinguished and traffic slowed down to 15 miles an hour. Green three, the actual beginning of the raid, at which the audible signals were given, came through at 8:54, and the all clear was sounded just half an hour later, at 9:24.

BLACKOUT VIOLATIONS

Several blackout violations were reported to the police department. Two local women, one in Andover center and one in West Parish, refused to extinguish their lights. A Summer street house was illuminated in the absence of its occupants, and the lights were left burning, although forcible entry to extinguish them was contemplated. A safe-light was left on in a local store, and garage lights at a private dwelling. Several precaution workers tried to drive to their posts after the beginning of the blackout, and had to be directed to stop. In many quarters, the sounding of the warden's signals was thought to be the sounding of children's penny whistles, and local parents are asked to take the whistles from them in the event that another blackout occurs.

Local factories and the general public, in the main, co-operated very well. The Tyer Rubber was blacked out for the full period, and the Marland and Shawsheen mills for five minutes each, since they are at present working under government supervision. Nearly all local householders turned out their lights immediately upon notification.

Teacher Receives Master's Degree

EDWARD C. MANNING

Edward C. Manning, Director of Guidance in the Andover public schools, received the degree of Master of Education at the graduation exercises of Boston University last Monday. A graduate of Harvard College with the class of 1932, he also attended Harvard Law School for two years before entering the teaching profession.

Mr. Manning came to Punchard High School four years ago. During the past two years he has been active in the development of a comprehensive guidance program for the school system.

He is one of the founders of the Merrimack Valley Guidance Association, and was recently re-elected its first vice-president.

WINS SCHOLARSHIP

Miss Dorothy Muise, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Muise of Park street and a member of this year's graduating class at Punchard high school, was recently awarded a scholarship at the Boston Conservatory of Music.

Miss Muise is sergeant of the brass section of the Punchard Girls' Band, and a member of the high school orchestra and glee club, the Andover Brass Band and the Legion Junior bugle and drum corps.

To Graduate From Suffolk

Mrs. Nellie Anne Smith Crossley of Andover will receive her bachelor of arts degree from the College of Liberal Arts at the annual commencement exercises of Suffolk University, Boston, next Thursday afternoon. Mrs. Crossley graduated from Punchard high school in 1936.

DRILL FOR MOTOR CORPS

About 25 members of the motor corps of the local women's defense organization are now practicing foot drill every Wednesday night at the Memorial gymnasium. An eight-hour course is planned, in order that the members may learn military discipline and precision in connection with their motor corps duties. Considerable progress has already been made.

The group is in charge of Mrs. Walter Rankin of Central street, and drill instruction is given by Sergt. Irving J. Whitcomb of Company D, 24th infantry, M. S. G.

Punchard Notes

Sally O'Riordan

The annual Memorial Day exercises were held at Punchard Friday morning. Chairman Frederick C. Smith of the school committee delivered an address to the students. The honor roll of the dead was read by David Markert; Mina Manthorne sounded taps; and wreaths were placed on the school plaques by Robert McDonald, vice-president of the Senior class; Frederic Nowell, president of the Junior class, and William Monroe, president of the Sophomore class.

The Service Club members were awarded their letters at the regular Monday morning assembly. Will Present "Pirates Of Penzance" This Year

Preparations for presenting an- other Gilbert and Sullivan comic opera, this time "The Pirates of Penzance," by the same group who had such a success with "The Mikado" last summer, are already well under way. Leads have al- ready been secured for the perfor- mances, to take place on August 17, 19 and 21 at the Opera Garden on Porter road, an outdoor amphi- theatre consisting of a sloping lawn where chairs are placed for the audiences, a natural stage sur- rounded by evergreens and shrubs with a background of taller trees, and an orchestra pit before the stage and partially concealed by flowers.

Mrs. Margaret Winton Forbes of Andover will take the soprano role of Mabel, Robert McGauley, tenor, of Haverhill, will sing the part of Frederick, Eugene Hunt, tenor, of Groveland, will be the Pirate King, while the Pirate Maid will be por- trayed by Miss Dorothy Flanna- gan, soprano, also of Groveland, and Kate by Mrs. Pauline Russell Morse, contralto, of Bradford. Most of the cast of 40 or 50 sing- ers has already been recruited from the high schools of George- town, Groveland, Middleton and Topsfield, where the director, Hor- ace Killam, is supervisor of music. The cast also includes other sing- ers from Andover and nearby com- munities, and there is still room for a few more young men as pirates and policemen. There will also be an orchestra made up large- ly of high school musicians; any- one interested in taking part in it should communicate with Mr. Killam, telephone Andover 938-M.

The first rehearsal will be held at the Garden June 24.

Junior High Students To Buy Bonds This Summer

Students at the local Junior high school are now signing pledges to the members of the armed forces, stating that they will continue to purchase War stamps and bonds during the summer months when school is not in session.

The first student to sign one of these pledges was David Graham of 6 Johnson road. He intends to do odd jobs during the summer, such as mowing lawns, in order to purchase stamps. Lorraine Rich- ards of South Main street was the first girl to sign a similar pledge. Lorraine plans to mind children in order to earn money to buy more stamps and bonds.

Over forty students have signed these pledges, and many more are expected to sign before school closes.

Pupils at the school made an amazing record in stamp purchases this year, buying about $80 worth each week for a total of more than $1600.

James Renny of Walnut avenue suffered a broken collar-bone in a bad fall from a bicycle Sunday evening.

Hallmark GREETING CARDS TEMPLE'S

TOMORROW—Card Party For Servicemen

Recreation has an important role in building up the morale of our national army, and nobody enjoys a good game of cards more than a soldier. That's the viewpoint of the ladies of the local American Legion auxiliary, who, tomorrow evening, will sponsor a card party, appropriately enough, for the purchase of playing cards for the boys overseas.

Mrs. John Keith heads the committee in charge, and play is to begin at 8:00 in the Legion rooms.

The auxiliary has recently presented large flags to the Girl Scouts of the Free church and for use at the aircraft observation post. They also plan to present one to the newly-formed Shawsheen Girl Scout troop for use on Flag Day.

Other activities of the auxiliary include a bean supper on June 27 at the Legion rooms, of which Mrs. Frank McCarthy will be in charge, and a trip to the Danvers state hospital Sunday for the purpose of presenting gifts to the disabled veterans there.

SUNDAY—Town Team Plays Exhibition Game

The large numbers of local people who follow the semi-weekly endeavors of the Andover Town baseball team really saw a thriller last Sunday afternoon at the local playstead, when the Andover nine went fourteen innings before losing to the strong Georgetown squad, 5 to 3. Georgetown, a hard-hitting club which ranks among the leaders in the Lawrence park department league, won 41 games and lost only 7 last year, and has been equally powerful during the current season.

THIS MONTH—Camouflage Exhibit At Addison Gallery

An exhibition entitled "Camouflage for Civilian Defense," to be shown at the Addison Gallery during June under the sponsorship of the Massachusetts committee on public safety, should be of interest to all Andover's large defense personnel. The exhibition has been constructed by the Museum of Modern Art in New York in collaboration with the Gallery, and the Andover showing will be its initial one. Material assistance has been given by the Pratt Institute, New York, and the Army Engineer board at Fort Belvoir, Va.

The purpose of the exhibition is to explain practical measures for protective concealment, and to show the necessity of working with trained personnel in order to obtain satisfactory results. The plan is a timely one, and the series of photographs and models show some of the more common methods in a clear and simple manner.

In the present war, the science of camouflage has increased in importance and use, since the new need for camouflaging civilian areas as well as front line positions has grown in direct proportion to the rise of air power. Today such work is as vital to victory as the camouflaging of ships and troops.

The exhibition deals with such questions as what should be camouflaged and to what degree it should be carried out, whether a given factory can be made merely confusing to locate or made to disappear wholly from air view, whether obvious landmarks like rivers can be obliterated or transformed.

Physical factors which the camoufleur must take into account are also explained. How much can the eye see and at what distance, what associations of shape and light the nerves carry to the mind, and what defense can be made from such tricks of aerial photography as infra-red film and stereoscopic and telescopic lens are fully dealt with.

Aiding the Enemy

Tuesday night Andover and surrounding communities had a semi-surprise blackout. Wednesday night the continent of North America was bombed for the first time in history.

More and more it is becoming apparent that it can happen here, and yet on Tuesday night, while in general the co-operation of the townspeople was excellent, there were isolated incidents of non-co-operation. An isolated incident is very effective in ruining the effect of a blackout, and ruining the effect of a blackout is tantamount to giving aid to the enemy. And strangely enough, the enemy can even see the lights in air-raid wardens' cars!

Why don't you few remaining non-conformists profit by the example of the large number of Andover citizens who have wholeheartedly given their co-operation? It won't hurt you to conform; it might hurt more than you, if you don't conform.

If You Can't Go—

The 3-A's have a problem. There are many of them who are torn by a desire to help out, to get out on the front line, to join in that mammoth procession that's going to end up in a celebration by us, the British, the Russians, the Dutch, the Yugo-slavs, the Greeks, the Norwegians, the Chinese, the true French and others in the city of Berlin. But they can't. They can't make a living for themselves and their families on the still meager wages being paid our soldiers today, and even if they could, the prospect of tearing themselves away from their little ones and possibly committing them and their mother to the difficulties of a fatherless family is one which would make the entrance into the armed forces a serious dereliction of family duty.

Yet they want to do something, and they can. They can even bear arms, and stay home at the same time, pursuing their normal occupations. This month there is taking place a special recruiting drive for the Bay State's home front army, the State Guard. A thousand more men are needed. Here in Andover the State Guard Reserve meets every Sunday morning from ten to noon at the Memorial Auditorium, where drill and basic training are indulged in. It's not much to ask, and it may not seem much to give, but its service is a real part of the war effort.

General Miles, who is the First Corps Area Commander for the United States Army, says: "The maintenance of a well-organized, drilled and equipped State Guard as an essential element in the war effort of our nation, is definitely recognized by the War Department." What the State Guard can take over, the Army won't have to do, and every man who joins the Guard and thus releases an Army man for action elsewhere, is in effect fighting the Japs and the Nazis, too.

It's a way to help, a very real way. If you're between 18 and 50 and able-bodied, why not drop into the Memorial auditorium Sunday morning?

the Andover Service club, is the possessor of an unusual distinction—he's been secretary longer than there has been a Service club.

The story behind that paradoxical statement is that he began as secretary under the late Charles R. Scott, last president of the Lions club, back in 1933. Shortly thereafter, a reorganization turned the Lions into service men, and Walter had the jump by nearly a year. To all intents and purposes, it was the same group.

Last week, when the Service club members held their annual meeting and election of officers, they decided that Walter Billings had held the job of secretary long enough for any one man. Seems they were afraid he was giving President Roosevelt ideas. So they turned around and elected another fellow—by the name of Walter E. Billings.

A correspondent has furnished us with a nice list of correct pronunciations and spellings for those polysyllabic battle locations, as requested here last week. Sorry we can't reproduce them here, but we don't have umlauts, circumflex accents and such things in our lino-type magazines.

We can say this: that we believe Webster is right and the radio announcers dead wrong. Next to Roget's Thesaurus, Webster's dictionary is the book we desire most to take to our desert island.

We note with some chagrin that just as soon as we mentioned that it was time for things to start humming at Tobruk, the Nazis became nasties there. We promise never to mention Tobruk again. Hereafter the Germans fight their own war; we're through helping them.

Our personal congrats go to Miriam Dearborn, who, with George Collins, has just been awarded a D. A. R. medal for leadership at the Junior high school.

Both Miriam and Sally O'Riordan, our Punchard correspondent, have been doing a swell job all year, and we've received lots of very favorable criticism on their columns.

And we're real critics in the matter of school journalism. In our own Punchard days, back in the thirties, we were the official informant for the lamented Lawrence Telegram, which stopped publication shortly thereafter. Later we worked for the Boston Transcript, now in some journalistic limbo. With a record like that behind us, we look dubiously to the future of the Andover Townsman.

The Guernsey cows are with us again—you remember our stirring editorial on their democratic way of life a few weeks ago? This week, the American Guernsey Cattle club of Peterborough, N. H., has announced that several Massachusetts Guernseys are making rapid advances in the battle of production. Admitted to the Advance Register of the club, which any social-climbing Guernsey would give her right horn to do, were such patriotic beasts as Argilla Philotterie of Ipswich, Robin Hill Cleopatra of Danvers (who made a new record), Appleton Mischief, also of Ipswich, and Randot Betsywin of Methuen.

If shipyards can get the celebrated Navy E, we see no reason why a similar award for excellence should not be presented to this patriotic little band of Guernseys. "MM," for "much milk," or something.

Now if we can only train Guernseys to work in airplane factories, or have them take up parachute jumping, the war will be over before we know it.

J. Augustus Remington of the Aberdeen Apartments, Shawsheen, who has served as first vice-president during the past year, was elected president of the Andover Service Club at its annual meeting Thursday night. Other officers for the 1942-43 season will be Guy B. Howe, first vice-president; Ellsworth H. Lewis, second vice-president; Walter E. Billings, secretary; Fred W. Gould, treasurer; Frank A. Buttrick, Harold W. Leitch, Edward C. Manning, Clifford M. North, Fred H. Smith, directors. The nominating committee was composed of Edward A. Anderson, Louis S. Finger and Foster C. Barnard.

Retiring President Harold W. Leitch was presented with a past president's badge by Trial Justice Walter C. Tomlinson, also past president of the organization.

Both State Civil Service Director Ulysses J. Lupien and Assistant Attorney General Frank G. Volpe, prominent in the Lawrence job-selling prosecution, spoke intimately on matters connected with their activities. Mr. Lupien described the beginning of the investigation, when three young men from Lawrence came to his home, told him they had had to pay for their public jobs, and asked him what he thought about it. Mr. Lupien's answer was to take their affidavits, and later, the whole series of conspiracies was brought to light through state police investigations and the turning of state's witnesses by several of the persons involved.

Mr. Volpe, in answer to a question, stated that Lawrence had not been "picked on" in any way, but that similar cases would be prosecuted with equal vigor wherever they occurred.

Abbot Alumni Hold Annual Meeting

Ten classes returned to Abbot Saturday for the annual meeting of the alumnae association, the president, Mrs. Mildred Frost Eaton, presiding. In the absence of the clerk, Mrs. Hazel Goodrich Waugh, Mrs. Constance Parker Chipman was appointed clerk pro term, and read the report. This was followed by the treasurer, Mrs. Laura Cheever Downs, who also added the report of the auditor, Miss Edith Kendall. The executive secretary, Miss Marion McPherson, gave the reports of the Second Century building fund, and the Second Century alumnae fund. The General Secretary, Mrs. Constance Parker Chipman reported on the social activities of the office, and read also the list of alumnae who had died during the past year.

The senior class, 62 in number, then marched in singing, and were presented to Mrs. Eaton by Miss Hearsey as the newest members of the alumnae association. Mrs. Eaton accepted them in the name of the Association, after which traditional ceremony the seniors saluted Miss Hearsey, Mrs. Eaton, and the classes of 1887 and 1892.

After the new alumnae had departed Miss Hearsey gave a warm welcome to the alumnae and spoke of her pleasure in seeing so many present. She mentioned in particular the gift of the class of 1887 of the furnishings for the Means Memorial library, and the painting "the Old Hill Road" by Gladys Brannigan, given to the library by Mrs. Eliza Atwell Browne, 1887, in memory of her sister, Mary Atwell Finkbine, 1878.

The presidents of three Abbot Clubs brought greetings: Miss Irene Atwood of the Boston club; Mrs. Esther Davis Smith of the Connecticut club; Mrs. Harriet Balfe Nalle of the Detroit club. Mrs. Eaton presented also the new alumna trustee, Miss Margaret Van Voorhis, director of residence at the Katherine Gibbs School, Boston, who was elected to the Board of Trustees for a term of six years. Commencement Marshals were announced as follows: chief marshal, Mrs. Miriam Bacon Chellis, 1917; assistant marshal, Mrs. Ruth Tyler Smith, 1932.

Mrs. Eaton expressed her appreciation of the work of the committees in charge of the Alumnae Day activities: Mrs. Laura Cheever Downs, general chairman; Mrs.

Elizabeth Dix Goddard, assistant chairman; Miss Carol Bullock, flowers; Miss Joan Waugh, tea.

The report of the Nominating Committee was read by Mrs. Elizabeth Dix Goddard, and the following new officers of the association were declared elected: president, Mrs. Roberta Kendall Kennedy, Andover; vice-presidents, Mrs. Esther Davis Smith, Bridgeport, Conn.; Mrs. Gwendolyn Bloomfield Tillson, Wellesley Hills; Mrs. Virginia Gay d'Elseaux, Winchester; clerk, Mrs. Susan Hildreth Goodwin, Andover; treasurer, Mrs. Laura Cheever Downs. Mrs. Eaton introduced the new president, who took the chair, and adjourned the meeting. Tea was served immediately in the alumnae headquarters in the art gallery.

At 6:45, 93 alumnae gathered in Bailey Hall for their annual banquet. Reunion classes sat together, the largest group being that of the class of 1941, of whom eighteen were present. Seated at the head tables were Miss Hearsey, Mrs. Eaton, Mrs. Kennedy, Miss Van Voorhis, Miss Dorothy Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Burton S. Flagg, Mr. and Mrs. Irving Southworth, Mr. and Mrs. Reeve Chipman, Miss Louise Clark, president of the senior class, and Miss Suzanne Bates, president of the Student Council. In place of a speech Miss Hearsey read a clever verse relating the events of the school year.

Buy Today For Tomorrow

Again our government has asked the Service Grocer to make still fewer deliveries, thereby conserving additional gasoline and tires. This can be accomplished by the Home Manager if she will order her food supplies one day ahead. By ordering today for tomorrow, an entire day's supply may be included in one delivery. The Home Manager will not find this a hardship and at the same time she will be helping her government to win this war so that she and her neighbors may live to enjoy freedom and the better way of life.

The program will be entirely optional for pupils, and the consent of each child's parents will be required. The course is permitted by a state law passed about a year ago, and is now operative in 38 states. According to estimates derived from enrollments in these courses in other communities, probably 150 school children would attend the classes.

A contract for the use of the Memorial Auditorium during the summer by the Guy Palmerton Players, a stock company, as drawn up by Town Council Walter C. Tomlinson, was approved with minor changes. A charge of $50 a night will be made, and the contract will run for one night, or two consecutive nights, each week for ten weeks, roughly from the last of June to the last of August.

No definite plans for the productions have yet been made by the stock company.

The committee voted to purchase its oil requirements for the coming year from the Cross Coal company. No contract was signed, since this is forbidden by a new government order. The school fuel requirements are already included in the Cross Coal company's gallonage.

The resignation of Miss Cecelia Derrah, teacher in the local school system for more than 20 years and now in the Junior high school, was accepted with regrets, as was that of Miss Mary G. Bailey as adult education superintendent. Miss Bailey is at present engaged in state war work, and was previously given a leave of absence. She has not, however, resigned from her duties in the art department.

John Campbell of Brechin terrace was reappointed truant officer at a salary of $75 per year. All school janitors were reappointed, as follows: Fred Collins, head janitor, at $1850 per year; Percy Crosby, Junior high, $1650; Edward O'Hagan, fireman, $1650; Henry Todd, Shawsheen, $1700; William Stirling, auditorium, $1600; William Snyder, night janitor, $1600; Edward Doyle, John Dove and Stowe, $1650; William McDermitt, Bradlee, $575; William Corliss, West Center, $125; Stanley Chlebowski, North, $104. A new janitor for the Indian Ridge school, due to the recent resignation of Alexander Dick, will be appointed at the next meeting.

Directors who continue in office for another year are Roscoe E. Dake, Mrs. Helen Christison, and Wilbur J. Bender. The directors elected Mr. Dake their president and Mr. Gerstenberger as vice-president. Rev. Mr. Lion was appointed head of the education committee.

knows what your circumstances will be; it is what you do in them that really matters. In handing you your diplomas, I do so with every good wish, and with my affection and confidence in you."

Dr. Theodore Cuyler Speers, D.D., of New York, the Commencement speaker, also touched on the principles for correct living in wartime. Anyone at all sensitive to conditions in the world today, he said, will find it difficult to say that he is "well and happy"; "well and plucky" would be a more accurate description. Our happiness is limited, he said, and derived only from certain sources; most of the ordinary joys of young people are now beyond their reach. Despite this, however, Dr. Speers said that "the time may come, and I hope and believe it will, when you would rather not have lived in any other period." Happiness will be more appreciated, he added, if it must be waited for.

In this connection, he mentioned the spirit of Rupert Brooke, who, ordered back to the front after a brief furlough in the first World War, cried "Now God be thanked, who has . . . caught our youth and waked up from sleep." Waking up, said Dr. Speers, is not always fun, yet Brooke felt that he had a worthwhile task in bringing light to a dark world.

The graduation exercises were preceded by the traditional tree and ivy exercises: the tree planting; transferring of the school spade; singing of the "tree song," ivy planting, and transfer of the trowel.

LIBRARY NOTES

Main Library

Two very interesting exhibits are now on display at the Memorial Hall library. One is a collection of soap carvings and miniature paintings by Mrs. Willis Tewksbury of Hidden road, in which a Christmas scene of carefully-wrought little figures is of particular interest. The other exhibit, loaned by Theodore Peterson of Pine street, includes hand-turned dishes made out of various kinds of wood. Both exhibits are well worth seeing.

Young People's Library

If it's been pretty tough for you to answer young Johnny's questions as to just why we're fighting a war, you may find the solution at the young people's branch of the Memorial Hall library. The branch has a number of pamphlets entitled, "You, your child and the war," published by the Westchester county Children's association in White Plains, N. Y., which give much helpful information on how to explain to children for what and why we are fighting.

Miss Evelyn R. Robinson, young people's librarian, will speak at the Lawrence Y. W. C. A. this evening on the topic, "Reading for leisure."

Miss M. Winifred Burt has returned to her home on Elm street after wintering in Southern Pines and Deland, Fla.

News Of Old Andover

50 YEARS AGO. A Lawrence store was selling unfinished $15 suits for only ten iron men. Of course, no "chromo" was included, but we dare say we wouldn't miss it at all, not knowing what it is...

Rev. Cyrus Hamlin gave Abbot Academy a clear account of the relations between Turkey and Russia. Wish someone would do it now... John May, recently employed with T. J. Farmer, joined the staff of R. M. Findley's fish market... A single trolley car brought 100 passengers from Lawrence, something like the last bus from there nowadays on a bad night... Peter Abercrombie gave up his meat business... The Elm House tally-ho tipped over while just starting out for North Andover. A few young men riding in it were bruised a bit, but enjoyed the ride none the less... Someone pointed out that six Andover soldiers had starved to death in "rebel" prisons during the Civil War.

25 YEARS AGO. A self-explanatory notice: "All males between 21 and 31 must register at the lower town hall next Tuesday, between 9 a. m. and 9 p. m..." William Moynihan of New York was recuperating from an operation at the home of Andover relatives... R. V. Deyermund and E. C. Edmonds gave a duet at a Free church C. E. meeting... Daniel B. Little of Maple avenue took a position with a Maine textile firm... In its third Boston week was Winston Churchill's mellerdrammer, "The Crisis." No, it was the other Winnie... Smith and Dove promised to finish paying Liberty Loan installments for any employee entering the service before completing payment himself... With the advance of war gardening, steps were to be taken to protect local plots against trespassers... A special town meeting was called for June 4. Among other agenda was a petition by the selectmen for salary increases to $500 for the chairman, $400 for the two other members.

10 YEARS AGO. Betty Bliss was chosen editor of the Punch Harder, to be assisted by William Simpson, James D. Doherty and Betty Buchanan... Andover got $15,011 from the gas tax that year. P. S. It won't this year... Welfare expenditures were still rising sharply; the soldiers' relief fund was nearly gone. Roger Whitcomb was installed as president of the South Church Christian Endeavor... The Ponds Pond committee decided to open the season on June 25... John A. Robertson graduated from M. I. T.... Mrs. Alexander Crockett was to pay special honor to Katherine R. Kelsey and Nellie M. Mason, retiring that year... Andover children stood a good chance to win prizes for their dogs, cats, reptiles, rabbits and other pets at the "Gymkhana" sponsored by the League of Women Voters... Down at the cinema, you could see Pola Negri in that thriller-diller, "A Woman Commands"... Mrs. Herbert Carter of Lowell street became the Townsman's West Parish correspondent.
